

The Steeping Teapot

January 2021 - Volume 1

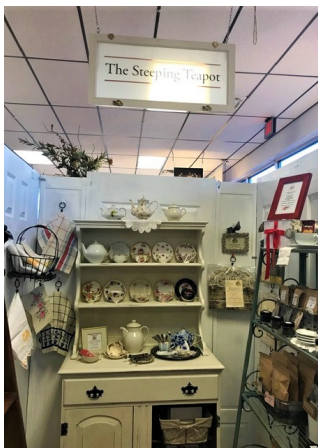

WELCOME!

Welcome to the first edition of The Steeping Teapot. We're glad that you're here and we'd like to share with you what's happening at The Steeping Teapot and Teas The Season, our sister blog. This newsletter will share with you all the exciting things and bring you some great teatime news!

Introducing.... The Steeping Teapot

This year was the opening of The Steeping Teapot in two ways. First, we opened the online store The Steeping Teapot. And most recently, for those in the New Mexico area, The Steeping Teapot opened an in-person store in the TGH Mercantile, a sister store of The Grey Heron. Located at 9132 Montgomery Blvd NE Albuquerque, NM both stores bring you the vintage treasures you love.

What's in the shop?

True to the mission of The Steeping Teapot - Vintage China and Teatime Treasures, we have many beautiful things in the shop and online. Anything that you would need to enjoy a cuppa or to have an afternoon tea. We have teapots, teacups, linens, teas and all the teatime items that you need, infusers or teabags - we have them. Keep reading...there is so much more.

BiltonCottage

The Steeping Teapot has the pleasure of being an exclusive seller of BiltonCottage Cozies and Sachets. These unique pieces of fabric art are heirlooms to enjoy and treasures to gift. Available in both The Steeping Teapot shop or in our online store.

The TGH Mercantile is home to several local artisan vendors which each have their own amazing passions. From furniture, to vintage items, purses, clothing, and food items. Additionally, The Grey Heron has all your Annie Sloan Chalk Paint®, holding several classes to help you learn the techniques and tools. Check out The Grey Heron website for a list of all the great classes.

The Simple Art of Tea

FEBRUARY 13 - I will be hosting a class at the TGH Mercantile. This time will be one for tea tasting and pairing of food with teas. The class will be held from 3:00 - 4:30PM and is a great way to celebrate the art of tea while learning some new teas. The cost of the class is $30 / person. You can sign up online at The Grey Heron or call (505) 379-4168 or better yet - come in and sign up! Class is limited to 10 attendees.

And for those of you who have followed Teas The Season, this tea blog will continue with its usual publications of recipes and essential teatime information....continuing in the celebration of the art and enjoyment of tea.

Thanks for reading and I would love to hear if you enjoyed this newsletter. Please share your feedback to beth@thesteepingteapot.com